To: Whom It May Concern
Subject: "NAPCO" Molded Fittings Brand Name

NAPCO molded fittings products may appear branded under one of three names due to the original incorporation of the business and subsequent acquisitions.

Plastic Trends Inc. is the original company name and its products were branded as such. In 2006 Axial Corporation purchased Royal and its assets, including Plastic Trends Inc. (acquired by Royal in 1998). Concurrent with the purchase by Axial the Plastic Trend brand was retired, replace with the Royal brand (aka Royal or Royal Building Products).

In 2016 Westlake Chemical Corporation acquired 100% of the assets of Axial Corporation. In January 2019 the Royal brand was replaced with the NAPCO brand (aka NAPCO or NAPCO Pipe & Fittings).

Thus fittings supplied by NAPCO, and made by Plastic Trends Inc. (the legal business entity of the manufacturer) may appear branded as Plastic Trends, Royal, or NAPCO.

Please contact me directly if further clarification or documentation is required.
